The grounds for this Motion are that Defendants’ decision to deny Plaintiff employees’ request to conduct a Bible study in Superior Court facilities was justified by multiple legitimate governmental interests that outweigh Plaintiff employees’ speech interests, including the Superior Court’s duty to avoid violating the federal Establishment Clause and related California constitutional provisions. Plaintiffs’ Free Exercise cause of action fails under the same balancing test, which governs all public employee First Amendment Claims. Likewise, Plaintiffs’ Due Process and facial invalidation challenges fail, because the Superior Court’s Administrative Policy at issue sets forth in detail the factors Superior Court officials must apply in considering requests for use of Superior Court facilities. Plaintiffs’ Federal Establishment Clause cause of action is also meritless, because the Superior Court’s conduct was undertaken for the purpose of avoiding an Establishment Clause violation, and under governing Ninth Circuit precedent it therefore cannot itself constitute an Establishment Clause violation. Finally, Plaintiffs’ California constitutional claims are analyzed under precedent that mirrors the federal claims, and therefore these claims should be rejected as well.

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the Memorandum of Points and Authorities filed herewith, all other pleadings, papers and records filed with the Court concerning this matter, matters subject to judicial notice, and on such other matters as may be presented at the hearing of this motion.
